

AFRICA GREEN ECONOMY AND SUSTAINABILITY INSTITUTE (AGESI™)

From Ambition to Impact

Africa stands at a defining moment in history. As the global economy pivots toward sustainability, our continent confronts both a climate imperative and a generational opportunity. Ambition abounds, policy momentum is building, and political will is rising. Yet, critical gaps remain, between vision and execution, strategy and delivery, intention and transformation.

About AGESI™

AGESI™ is an agile, Africa-based institute accelerating the continent's transition to a just and inclusive green economy. Based in Nigeria and designed for scale, we bridge the gap between bold sustainability goals and real-world action.

We are not just a think tank but a do tank. From policy strategy to executive training, program development, and innovation support, we deliver practical, measurable results across sectors.

Our Vision

Powering Africa’s Leap into the Green Economy

Africa stands at a critical turning point. As the global economy shifts toward sustainability, the continent faces a dual challenge and opportunity to address climate risks while unlocking green growth.

AGESI™ exists to close the gap between ambition and action.

We believe Africa’s green transition can be fast, inclusive, and transformative. Our vision is to make that future real, by empowering leaders, scaling innovation, and delivering systems-level change.

Our Model: Built for Impact

Lean & Expert-Driven: A focused core team delivers with speed and strategic clarity.

Network-Powered: Senior Fellows and domain experts are engaged flexibly across projects.

Sustainable & Scalable: A nonprofit model supported by partnerships, fee-for-service work, and grants.
